Nero D'Avola

Harvest

First and second ten-day periods of September.

Terroir and altitude: 800 meters above sea level

The Nero d'Avola comes from a vineyard situated at an altitude of 800 meters above sea level, a factor that significantly influences the wine's aromatic and flavour profile. The soil in which the vines are grown is of medium texture and silty-sandy in composition, a combination that helps to give the wine distinctive characteristics in terms of concentration and aromatic complexity.

Winemaking and ageing

Following a careful selection of the grapes, they are destemmed and left to macerate in temperature-controlled stainless steel vats. The wine is aged on the lees in stainless steel vats for 9 months and then in the bottle for at least 3 months.

In the glass, it displays a bright cherry red colour, with vivid coral highlights that accentuate its brilliance, energy and expressive finesse.

With beautiful intensity and immediate recognisability, the bouquet evokes goji berries, plum, black cherry, blueberry, blackcurrant and blackberry, accompanied by pomegranate and orange zest. These are followed by elegant Mediterranean notes of wild mint, wild fennel and thyme, with spicy hints of juniper and star anise that add depth and complexity to the bouquet.

The wine flows with elegance and harmony, underpinned by well-integrated freshness and salinity. The palate is dynamic and balanced, with silky tannins that accompany the drinking experience with continuity and precision. The finish is long, savoury and persistent, with a texture that leaves a composed and refined impression.

In this high-altitude setting, Nero d'Avola develops a particularly refined balance between aromatic intensity, freshness and tannic structure. The wide temperature variations encourage a slow and steady ripening of the grapes, helping to create a wine that is dynamic, precise and beautifully expressive.

Deep, harmonious and with a distinct Mediterranean character, this Nero d'Avola captures the essence of the highlands with restraint and authenticity. The richness of the fruit, the structure on the palate and the silky tannins come together to create an elegant and captivating red wine, which successfully combines intensity, freshness and a distinct sense of place.
